

Morse Code CW is more important than ever to be retained in the Amateur service. If all other methods of communication fail...the simplest (and least expensive) mode to get the job done is CW. Why don't we just hand Morse/CW to the terrorists around the world to use. Who will be on guard to even watch in years to come? At least keep the Extra class license subject to the Morse Requirement. It should have been kept at 20 words per minute, but our society has become complacent and it is a shame. Amateur Radio must keep up with new technology(I personally do), but a PROVEN long serving mode of communication(CW) must remain. I strongly back RM-10784. We must encourage furthering the use of morse code... not dumping it. Thank you. Martin Szumera
WN2DX